South Africa now has three million Whites, and a million colored people. It is a land of racial hatred. Mr. Pollock began his address by defining South Africa, geographically and revealing the labors there of the great pioneers of the Christian faith - Maudie and Glen. He told how he, when present, had been to the memory of these pioneers. Livingstone had gone down to Africa to preach the Gospel of Christ, and by putting aside the long-drawn-out jungle.

Hold Party Ere
Couples Depart

The main purpose of the party was to say "an revoir" to two very popular young couples, who have resided at Viewlake for the past few years and are now moving to the Oshawana district, where the husband has a home.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Windsor, and Mr. and Mrs. Chester Robinson have made many friends during their residence in the community. All are sincerely sorry to see them go, but as they are not going too far away, the ties of friendship will not be broken.

During the early portion of the evening progressive euchre was enjoyed, when six tables were in progress. At the conclusion of the game, Mr. Newton Armstrong was declared to hold the highest score for the gentlemen and three ladies each held the same high score.

Mr. Ivan Mains in the capacity of Master of Ceremonies, was heard in a brief farewell address, in which he expressed the regret of a large number in the loss to the community, of these young couples and in their personal loss to their closer friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Robinson, in their positions as postmaster and storekeepers, will be very much missed by the colony of summer visitors.

Harry and Doris, Chester and Valda each replied expressing thanks and appreciation and voiced the desire that all come to see them in their new homes.

Later a delicious lunch was served by Mrs. Pew and her assistant. All enjoyed a social hour or so.

IN THE WAKE OF THE FIRE . . . SUGGESTIONS
 The fire which laid waste to the largest manufacturing plant in the town of Lindsay's business section on Monday has produced some suggestions from the citizenry which merit more than passing consideration by local authorities.

One of these meritorious suggestions concerns the control of traffic during major fires. It has been recommended that consideration be given to having the Board of Works co-operate fully with the police and fire departments in such emergencies. The idea would be to have Works Dept. employees stationed to put up adequate barricades to block off the area of fire. In Monday's outbreak police had to appropriate signs from the Canadian Tire Corp.'s premises to block off Peel at William St. and it was necessary to block the Cambridge entrance to Peel with the police car. Before these barricades could be effected traffic was moving through, though many were being driven away. The Works Dept. is equipped with proper barricades which would be much more effective in halting the flow of traffic than makeshift measures. Proponents of this idea feel it would leave the police free to cope with more urgent matters such as control of a curious public to avoid risk of unnecessary injury and interference with the firemen.

Every fire of this importance there is always the risk of injury to the fire-fighters and another suggestion arising from Monday's blaze is that a doctor and ambulance be called to the scene. This is contended by those who support the idea, would eliminate unnecessary delay in caring for casualties.

Last, but by no means least of the suggestions advanced in the wake of this latest fire, is that burning rubbish in alleyways in the heart of town be clamped down. This is not to suggest that burning rubbish in any alleyway is the best of the worst, but that burning rubbish in the heart of town is a fire but not 24 hours in its wake two rubbish fires were burning in the same area of town which did not appear to be in the best interests of fire prevention. One of these fires was a fire of a few feet of an easily inflammable structure. This suggestion "will probably be greeted with the question: 'What can we do with our waste products? A good question, but perhaps garbage disposal officials here might be expected to provide an answer.

Others Say

WHAT'S THE HURRY?

Europeans have been puzzled for years as to what makes us tear along at such breakneck speeds—even when accomplishing the simplest, everyday tasks. They might well ask—what's the hurry? Well, it's getting us! 'Tis thus said the editor of the Canadian Car and Foundry Journal.

When a man I know is going somewhere, he dashes out to the car, jumps in, and hurriedly starts the engine. He doesn't wait for the engine to warm up. Instead, he jams his foot down on the accelerator and the car lurches forward like a jack-rabbit starting its squealing! If he ever thought about it, he might realize that he was not doing the automobile any good. Everywhere he goes, if only to the nearby grocery, he drives like that. What's his hurry?

How many people do you know who sit down to a meal and literally swallow it whole? They are cramping their throats and their mouths are dry. Why not eat more slowly? They are cramping their throats and their mouths are dry. Why not eat more slowly? They are cramping their throats and their mouths are dry. Why not eat more slowly?

Doesn't it seem a bit stupid to tear along through life, rushing here and there, fraying nerves, boosting blood pressure up, and straining the heart? Sixty per cent of the beds in our hospitals are occupied by people who are there because of mental problems. Not crazy people, of course, but all with ulcers, hypertension, nervous breakdown, and other kindred ills. Why not determine now that you will not be one of them. The end comes soon enough to all of us. Why hurry? It? Slow down. Will you?—Turro Daily News

The first white man to visit the Kavartha Lake region was Daniel de Champlain, who, in September, 1615, accompanied a war party of Huron Indians on a brave expedition to the Tropics. To reach the Tropics, he had to travel a long way, and the party travelled across the region from north to south, following many of the routes which are now travelled by the present Victoria Valley Canal Company. In 1615, the Huron returned and, moving slowly toward the north, they followed the region, that time from south to north.

The first permanent trading posts in Ontario villages on the north shore of Lake Ontario were established by Montreal and Quebec merchants, the French made attempts to colonize the region. The posts were established to serve the Indians brought down from the northern hunting grounds. Always with them brought down from the north were the Indians of the Ottawa who they accompanied. The fact that in 1799 the British, William Mowbray, family into the lake cabin which had been built at a French trading post at the mouth of Ottawa Creek would indicate that these were the Indians who they accompanied. The Williams found standing on their R. E. area, had been founded for more than thirty years.

The first permanent settlement in the region was at Port Hope, where a flourishing trading post was established as early as 1776. In 1784 the land draining on the north shore of Lake Ontario was purchased from the Indians to be parcelled out principally to United Empire Loyalists. This tract proved adequate for incoming settlers, and in 1784 the land was purchased from the Indians to be parcelled out principally to United Empire Loyalists.

The majority of settlers brought to the region were from the HAWKESBURY area from Port Hope to Colborne to River Kettle. They came to the region, where they could afford it, however, preferred to stay in the city of Toronto before disembarking. From there they journeyed north, along Yonge Street, to Kawartha, where they turned of to the wilderness. The last time of the region, the immigrants into the district occurred in 1853 when Hon. Peter B. Macdonald brought out 2,000 Irish settlers from the neighborhood of the Lake Huron to Peterborough and Victoria in Ontario.

An interesting economic survey of the Kavartha Lakes region of Ontario has been made by the Ontario Bureau of Statistics and Economics. It is published in two parts, the first part being an account of the region's economic life in the past, and the second part being an account of the region's economic life in the future.

The Kavartha Lakes region of Ontario consists of the counties of Ontario, Victoria, Durham, Peterborough and Northumberland bordering the north shore of Lake Ontario and extending northwards to the Georgian Bay area of the Province. This region covers approximately 10,000 square miles in length, with the Kavartha Lakes area being the largest, and the Peterborough and Northumberland areas being the smallest.

The Kavartha Lakes region is the largest in the southern Ontario, with an area of about 10,000 square miles. Its population is about 100,000, and its economy is based on agriculture, forestry, and fishing. The region is known for its beautiful scenery, its rich natural resources, and its friendly people.

AN ENCOURAGING DEVELOPMENT . . .

Several weeks ago "The Post" drew attention to the unsightly heaps of garbage which are to be seen at various points along the lesser travelled roads in the Township of Mariposa. It was suggested at that time that something be done to curb the practice of dumping garbage by the roadside such as establishing collection garages by disposal points and making it an offense to just toss refuse in the ditch at will. Mariposa Township has shown encouraging leadership in doing something about this problem as witness the following motion endorsed by the council of that municipality:

"All garbage in the Township of Mariposa must be taken to the Township Dump. Persons found dumping garbage on the Township Roads will be prosecuted."

Mariposa is to be congratulated on its stand in this matter and its example is one which might be duplicated in other townships. The tendency of people to unload garbage bit by bit along country roads has reached alarming proportions and, while it is acknowledged that it is very difficult to completely curb such untidy habits by legislation, a corrective by-law is a step in the right direction.

Man seems to be one of the few creatures in the world who has successfully cultivated the habit of untidiness . . . a characteristic which those who have realized it should do something about shedding for their own welfare and better conduct. It is better to place it than just throw around home and what more opportune time than now? Is the Mariposa by-law not sufficient reminder that we need to mend our ways?

PRESERVE SOIL VALUES

The damage to farms from soil erosion annually causes an enormous loss to Ontario agriculture. Ordinarily, this is due to the failure to provide cover crops in spring and fall, and to practice contour cultivation in hilly districts. At the same time, the late and early spring run-off carry away countless tons of invaluable topsoil every year and deposit it on the bottom of lakes, where it is gone for good.

Now, a new menace to soil values is developing in the rapidly growing volume of selling soil and topsoil commercially, especially in and near the large cities. The roadside and centre strips of the new highways require immense quantities of soil, which is often stripped from near-by pastures. Road and topsoil are also brought into and sold in large quantities. Road and topsoil are also brought into and sold in large quantities. The roadside and centre strips of the new highways require immense quantities of soil, which is often stripped from near-by pastures. Road and topsoil are also brought into and sold in large quantities.

The danger of unrestricted cutting in woodlots has long since been recognized, and legislation exists to permit counties to regulate the cutting of trees. If farmers wish to avoid a similar restriction in the use of the soil resources of their farms, they would be well advised to take voluntary steps to maintain the fertility and productive capacity of the land. No doubt men have a right to fill an apparent demand for fertile soil, but the exercise of such a right ought not to deprive the social interest in the maintenance of agricultural and land values.

The Government ought to take more vigorous steps to encourage practices which compensate for the removal of soil and timber. Its influence would be more effective, however, if it gave more active support to all sorts of conservation policies, especially in providing more numerous demonstrations of what conservation actually does. An ounce of demonstration is worth many pounds of compulsion, and its effects would last much longer.—Globe and Mail

Our Queen is Crowned

The day on which our beloved Queen Elizabeth II is to be crowned should be one of great rejoicing for all her loyal subjects.

On this June 2nd, 1952, we should feel particularly proud of the privilege of living under such a gracious Sovereign and of belonging to this great and unique family of nations. The British Commonwealth.

Thanks to the invention of modern technology, we shall be able to associate to a great extent with the population of London, and the world, and traditional privacy. All over the world, people of democratic countries will be following with interest and sympathy the ceremonies of the Coronation.

Let us on this day pledge anew our allegiance to the Crown and reaffirm our faith in the great principles upon which the British Commonwealth was founded and endures.

Let us hope that none will show more fervour in this re-dedication than the people of a province that prides itself upon its motto, "For a laeas, loyal she will remain".

GOD SAVE THE QUEEN!

Mrs. Baty was talking on the telephone with the wife of her husband's former chief officer when the full fury of the storm broke. The party on the other end of the line declared: "My goodness, our tree is going" and from then on things happened fast. Mrs. Baty resided in an area about half a mile off the main path of the tornado but her friend lived in much nearer, "within an estimated 40 yards of it.

The June bugs will survive this season's drought well and continue to grow in number despite their reverses.

Victoria County Agricultural representative Leroy Brown, Lindsay, says the June bug is becoming increasingly common and is doing much of the damage to alfalfa and clover in the height of infestation. He explains that the June bug itself does little actual damage although it does eat a certain amount of alfalfa to maintain its weight and to keep from starving when the adult bug emerges. This grub, Mr. Brown points out, forages on the roots of plants and next year the

A large crowd of boys and girls were present in the William Street Baptist Church for the closing service of the Happy Hour.

The meeting opened with the singing of "God So Loved the World" and Mr. Ken Englebert in prayer. Everyone joined in hymns. Mr. Howard Scarver read the acceptance of the offering. The boys and girls joined in singing some of their favorite choruses. The missionary chorus was sung and Mrs. G. W. Beall led in prayer requests.

Mrs. Baty says that hailstones measuring roughly one and one-quarter inches in diameter had been falling about five minutes before the storm struck. This was followed by a period of dead calm, she declared, then the tornado struck with all its fury. "I was terrified," she told her husband on arrival here. Mrs. Baty had been downtown only a few minutes previous, and it was there that the full brunt of the storm was borne.
